Cynthia --

I apologize that I could not call you but my travel was interrupted in unexpected ways. Thank you for your patience. I believe we had a good meeting with the special counsel team.

To address the concern that I expressed below, I would suggest the one edit in the attached to leave open the possibility that something may not be captured by their work -- for example question #1 -- and that the University may want or need to respond after the special counsel work is done.

Let me know if this works for you.

Donald

Cynthia - thank you for the opportunity to review this draft. I would like to provide you comments after my meeting with the special counsel this afternoon. Specifically, as currently drafted the letter seems to suggest that the special counsel report itself will serve as a response from the university. I plan to discuss that issue with the special counsel as I think it may be preferable for the university to respond directly to the NCAA questions, once the special counsel work is done. I hope to call you later in the day.

Thanks

Donald

Dear President Emmert:

President Erickson received your letter dated November 17, 2011, and requested that I respond. During a subsequent telephone call on November 23, 2011, with you, General Counsel, Donald Remy and other NCAA staff, for the purpose of clarifying issues, it became evident that the questions being asked in your letter might be answered in the course of the investigations currently in progress.

The University understands that the NCAA will continue to monitor these investigations and will have access to the report of the Special Investigations Task Force. At that time the NCAA will determine if a further response from the University is necessary. Therefore, the University is requesting an enlargement of time in order to accommodate the above process.

Thank you for your consideration and cooperation. We await your response.

Sincerely,

Cynthia A. Baldwin
