

06050

Branstetter, Jennifer

From: Ammerman, Paula [REDACTED]
Sent: Sunday, January 22, 2012 3:49 PM
Subject: Statement from Penn State Athletics

TO: Members of the Board of Trustees

I was asked to share with you the below statement released on behalf of Penn State Athletics.

Statement from Penn State Athletics

"This is a tremendous loss for Penn State and the world. Joe Paterno was a great man who was one of the greatest influences on my life and the lives of Penn Staters. For all of us who played for Joe, he taught us so much. He was a teacher and an educator first. He taught us about self-discipline and paying attention to the small details. He built young men from the inside out. He's famous for saying, "if you keep hustling and plugging away something good will happen" and we all discovered how true that was.

"Because of the way he led and taught Penn Staters, the world is such a better place, not just because of his direct influence, but because of the influence he had on so many who have graduated from Penn State to positively impact the world."

- Dave Joyner, Penn State Acting Director of Athletics

Paula R. Ammerman
Director, Board of Trustees Office
The Pennsylvania State University
205 Old Main
University Park, PA 16802
[REDACTED]; (814) 863-4631 (FAX)
[REDACTED]

www.pennstatesunsports.com